By Virginia A. Boyle, PhD

Overview: Welcome to the world of cinema through Facets Children's Programs. The group screening curriculum is based upon our years of dedication to the cause of quality children's media.

New! the Facets Children's Programs – Group Screening Curriculum is aligned with the Common Core State Standards and the Fine Arts Standards! The Festival Film Unit is a flexible base for a learning adventure that engages every student. Teachers have a range of activity and assessment options.

The Facets Festival Film Unit comes complete -- with state-of-the-art lesson plans, teacher guides, student response sheets, and student assessment handouts.

With classroom projects, small-group work, art activities, discussions, and sequenced writing, the Facets Festival Film Unit is a springboard for fun. Facets experience with K-12 students demonstrates that they love their new role in this exciting learning process.

In their role as "Film Critics", students complete the same sequence of authentic tasks that professionals do! In the learning activities, students:

1. prepare to view the film;
2. view the film with a purpose;
3. deconstruct the film's component parts;
4. analyze the distinct parts of the film;
5. evaluate the film in the primary performance task for assessment.

Each activity comes with a teacher's guide and a student response sheet to make it easy to plan, implement and assess!
